

IT'S ABOUT THE GREAT OUTDOORS!

A WALK ON THE WILD SIDE: The Vista Trail is both scenic and a little bit challenging in its 2.5-mile loop around Terramor. The trail is marked with interpretive signage.

Bicentennial 5K-10K Run/Walk kicks off Community Faire to be held May 18

A Run/Walk event has been planned at 8 a.m. on Saturday May 18 as the 19th Annual Temescal Valley Community Faire, themed “Bye-Bye Bicentennial,” ends the year-long celebration of the valley’s 200th birthday.

According to Chairman Bob Hafner, the 5K Walks – for individuals or families, and the 5K and 10K runs will feature medals for all participants, as well as race T-shirts and first through third place trophies for the fastest running times.

2.5-mile public hiking trail to open in Temescal Valley

The Terramor community has scheduled a Bicentennial event to celebrate Temescal Valley’s 200th birthday. Ribbon-cutting ceremonies will be held at 10 a.m., Saturday, April 27 to welcome the much-anticipated opening of the Vista Trail – a 2.5-mile hiking path that loops around the community.

Although Terramor is a gated neighborhood, the multi-purpose Vista Trail is open to the public and can be used by hikers, bicyclists and equestrians. A community hike will follow the short ceremonies that will be emceed by Sam Yoo, president of the Temescal Heritage Foundation.

Hikers should note that the trail is steep in certain areas and can be “rigorous” for some people. With its opening, Vista will be included in the county’s regional trail system.

Temescal Valley has two residents that are involved in trail planning for the unincorporated areas of the county.

Patricia “Trixie” Anderson, who lives in Wildrose Ranch, is Supervisor Kevin Jeffries’ First District appointee on the county’s Trail Committee. The five-member committee is responsible for “advising and making recommendations concerning the acquisition, maintenance and promotion of all multi-use trails in the county.” The Trail Committee reports directly to the Riverside County Regional Park & Open-Space District Advisory Commission (DAC).

Amie Kinne, a Dawson Canyon resident, is chairman of the DAC and represents the First District on the 10-member commission. The purpose of the commission is to “advise and make recommendations to the Board of Supervisors concerning the planning, acquisition, development, and use of parks and open space in unincorporated county areas.” Additionally, the DAC makes recommendations to the board regarding county trails and the conservation and propagation of fish and game.

According to Amie, “It has been a long time coming, but the opening of a new trail in Temescal Valley is reason to celebrate.”

She continued, “One thing that the recent Superbloom taught us is that people love getting out in nature, both for the exercise and family time. The Vista Trail will give local families the opportunity to experience both year-round.”

The trailhead for the new hiking path, and where the ceremonies and community hike will be staged, is at Temescal Hills Drive and Temescal Canyon Road. The area actually is a flood control basin disguised as a community park with plenty of spaces for parking and two horse corrals.

U.S. Forest Service says 'No' to LEAPS Fire Study Plan

Fire agency asks FERC to require Nevada Hydro to address its concerns in submitted plan

Lake Elsinore residents last week applauded their City Council for a unanimous vote to go on record in opposition to the Lake Elsinore Advanced Pump Storage (LEAPS) project. But a letter sent by the U.S. Forest Service to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) on April 10 gives Temescal Valley residents a reason to celebrate.

Here's a little background for readers new to the ongoing LEAPS saga. The Nevada Hydro Company, headquartered in San Diego County, is seeking FERC approval to build the controversial project. LEAPS would pump water from Lake Elsinore at night up to a to-be-constructed reservoir in the Decker Canyon area of the Cleveland National Forest. The water then would be returned to the lake via gravity to generate electricity through turbines. The project also calls for 32 miles of overhead 500 kV transmission lines that would connect to SDG&E and SCE lines.

One set of lines would descend in a northeasterly direction from the Santa Ana Mountains and cross Temescal Valley between the Sycamore Creek and Glen Eden communities. The lines would continue east across the I-15 freeway and connect to Edison lines in the foothills of the Temescal Mountains.

Many Temescal Valley residents oppose the project because of the possible fire danger associated with powerlines – whether igniting a fire or impeding aircraft ability to fight a fire, and the U.S. Forest Service communication to FERC on April 10 underlined the same concerns.

In its licensing process, FERC found certain elements of the overall LEAPS project to need additional studies – one being a Fire Study Plan. In March, Nevada Hydro submitted a plan to FERC, indicating that after consulting with the Forest Service, a “final study plan has been completed with no disagreements between the Forest Service and the company.”

The Forest Service, in its April 10 communication, disagreed, stating that none of its concerns or comments were included in the fire plan submitted by Nevada Hydro. The letter read in part, “The plan lacks the analysis we’ve requested to determine how the proposed project could impact fire risk and fire management activities within the Cleveland National Forest.”

The letter itemized the agency’s issues with Nevada Hydro’s plan and requested Forest Service concerns and comments be incorporated and assessed in the Final LEAPS Fire Study Plan. Nevada Hydro’s final study plans are due to FERC June 30.

MORE POWERLINES: The purple line shows the path of the LEAPS 500 kV transmission lines that will cross Temescal Valley.

The significance of the Forest Service’s objections is that it is a federal agency, as is FERC.

While local opposition, such as the vote taken by the Lake Elsinore City Council is notable, neither city, county or state can approve or deny the project – only FERC has the final say.

Residents and local governing agencies opposed to the project should support the U.S. Forest Service’s latest objections.

HOW TO COMMUNICATE WITH FERC

To let FERC know you support the Forest Service requests outlined in its April 10 communication, submit your comments via the agency’s online eComment page. Use an Internet Explorer browser:

<https://ferconline.ferc.gov/QuickComment.aspx>

Follow the directions on the page. It’s best to prewrite your comments in a Word doc and then copy and paste into the eComment template. The docket number is P-14227.

Begin your comments with -- Re: Support of the U.S. Forest Service communication dated April 10 regarding Project No. P-14227

Here’s the agency’s two-page letter to FERC to help you with your comments:

What's new at Tom's Farms and Glen Ivy Golf Club?

When Sunny Hwang purchased Tom's Farms in June 2017, he said he would maintain the property as a retail and amusement attraction. Sunny said he wanted to continue the legacy of Tom Barnes who, in 1971, opened a fruit and produce stand in Temescal Valley and through the years built a business that is a popular stop for both tourists and local residents.

Also the owner of the Glen Ivy Golf Club (Trilogy), Sunny has made several improvements to the public 18-hole championship course since he purchased it in March 2016.

The last month has been a busy one at both Tom's Farms and the golf course. Senor Tom's Mexican restaurant is now Tom's Brew & BBQ, the Farm now boasts a Garden & Nursery Center, and the Canyons Grille restaurant's banquet and wedding facilities have been expanded at the golf course.

Stayed tuned. Sunny soon will be announcing additional expansion plans!

TOM'S BREW & BBQ

IN THE MOOD FOR BBQ?: Barbecue offerings on the menu of the new Tom's Brew & BBQ include brisket, tri-tip, pulled pork, St. Louis-style ribs, hot links and chicken.

Sides featured are two types of mac and cheese, BBQ beans, fries, potato salad, corn on the cob, coleslaw and corn bread.

Fried pickles, onion rings, roasted Brussel sprouts, wings and sliders are among the appetizers offered.

For dessert, choose peach or apple cobbler, either ala mode or plain, a banana split or sundae made with Thrifty's ice cream.

A children's menu is available, and Brew & BBQ prices are a few dollars lower than the Wood Ranch menu.

CANYONS GRILLE BANQUET FACILITIES

GARDEN & NURSERY CENTER

ABOVE: There's a good selection of healthy plants at the Garden Center that specializes in drought-tolerant landscaping.

BELOW: The expanded banquet facilities at the golf course feature a floor-to-ceiling glass wall with a view overlooking Temescal Valley.

MARCH PHOTO WINNERS

The theme was "Temescal Valley Blooms." And with the Superbloom surrounding us, we had a record 87 entries! Because of the number of entries, judges decided to pick two winners – one for close-up and one for landscape captures of beautiful Temescal Valley flowers. Congratulations to CAMERON SCHEUPLEIN for this gorgeous landscape shot of "Poppy Paradise" (above), and to JOY McGUIRE for the close-up she calls "Purple Flowers" (right). Both winners are residents of the Horsethief Canyon Ranch community.

CALLING ALL PHOTOGRAPHERS! The theme for April's contest is "Shadows." We're looking for photos with shadowy intrigue! It's easy to enter. Photos must be shot by Temescal Valley residents in Temescal Valley – limit five photos per photographer. Tell us who you are and in which community you reside. Give your entries a title. Shots are due by Tuesday, April 30. Email the photos and info to: tvfairephotos@gmail.com

Big photo contest again will be held at Temescal Valley Community Faire

The 5th Annual Temescal Valley Photo Contest will take place at the Community Faire, to be held Saturday, May 18 at Deleo Regional Sports Park. Gift cards ($100, $75, $50) will be awarded to first through third places in each of the competition's categories of Landscape, Things to Do, Animals and Artistic Expression.

A new category – OMG! Fire & Floods has been added this year. A Best of Show also will be chosen by popular vote of spectators attending the Faire.

Start gathering your entries which must be submitted as hard copy 8x10 prints. Deadline for the entries is Monday, May 6. For more information, contest rules and entry forms:

RCTC seeks public input about transportation challenges

No one likes sitting in traffic, being late to work, or hitting a big pothole on the way to the grocery store. The Riverside County Transportation Commission (RCTC), in a news release, says it is frustrated by these things, too.

To drive change, RCTC has created #RebootMyCommute, a public engagement campaign that urges feedback from every corner of the 7,300-square-mile Riverside County. RCTC says the feedback will help update its transportation roadmap, which it recognizes as being vital to economic growth, public safety and quality of life.

“The best solutions come from the ground up,” said Chuck Washington, RCTC chairman and Riverside County supervisor. “We need to hear from the people whose lives depend on our transportation system every day so we can create a vision and act, together.”

RCTC says to learn more and join the conversation:

- Visit RebootMyCommute.org
- Share photos, videos, and comments on social media and don't forget to tag @TheRCTC and use #RebootMyCommute on Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter
- Call 800-450-3650
- Text “RCTC” to 55222
- Stop by booths at various community events across Riverside County

A BICENTENNIAL MOMENT . . .

The recent Superbloom has attracted many pollinators to the area, most notably bees. Did you know the bee-keeping industry in Riverside County began in Temescal Valley? Noted beekeeper L.L. Andrews wrote the following account excerpted from the “History of San Bernardino and Riverside Counties” Volume One, published by the Western Historical Association in 1922.

“About 1872, there was an apiary in the Temescal Valley, a few miles east of what is now Glen Ivy and Cold Water Canyon. The bees were brought in from Mexico or a district near the Mexican border. These are the first bees of which we can find any trace.”

Andrews continued, “Temescal Valley, like other vast tracts of land throughout Southern California, was covered with wild brush of all kinds. Black sage, white sage, wild buckwheat, sumac, wild alfalfa, etc., were found in abundance, and furnishing plenty of nectar offered promising locations for the apiarist.”

An article in the Dec. 27, 1879 edition of the Riverside Press stated: “Anderson Brothers of Temescal have received returns from their honey crop of 14,400 pounds. This honey has been kept for two years for a better market and was sold in San Francisco for 15 cents per pound. The cash receipts were $2,160.” That was a lot of money in 1879!

Learn more historic facts and find the link to the full text of beekeeper Andrews' story on our bicentennial page:

WeAreTV.org/Bicentennial/. Please join us at 9 a.m., Saturday, May 25 for our next Bicentennial Committee meeting in the Temescal Room at the Trilogy Lodge, 24503 Trilogy Parkway.

A DEADLY BLOODSUCKER: The Aedes mosquito feeds during daytime hours and can carry the deadly Zika virus.

WHAT'S THE BUZZ?

Mosquito experts say get ready for season; take steps to avoid infestation

With the heavy rains this year, Riverside County vector control agencies are bracing for a nasty mosquito season, which residents of a few Temescal Valley neighborhoods say has already arrived according to their comments on social media.

Two types of mosquitoes – the invasive Aedes species and the more common Culex species are responsible for the itchy bites and welts that people say they are experiencing.

The Aedes, native to Asia, arrived here in 2011 and since then its numbers are increasing. These mosquitoes can carry viruses and spread diseases, including yellow fever and Zika, which can be deadly for people susceptible to the viruses.

The Aedes is a very small mosquito, is aggressive and prefers to dine during the daytime. It flies low to the ground and its bites, usually on the feet and ankles, are painful and itchy, can cause huge red welts and have been known to send people in search of medical treatment.

The Culex mosquito prefers to bite birds instead of humans and is responsible for the spread of West Nile Virus. It's larger than the Aedes and its buzzing can be heard. It's a native insect and prefers to dine during nighttime hours.

Vector control officials say residents' first defense against mosquito bites is to remove all standing water. After the rains, water can accumulate in potted-plant saucers, watering cans and rain barrels. Residents living in The Retreat should be wary of standing water on the abandon golf course. HOAs with flood control basins in common areas need to check that the basins have drained and that there is no standing water.

Vector control agencies need to be notified of standing water. Most Temescal Valley communities are within the Northwest Mosquito and Vector Control District: 951-340-9792. Residents living in Horsethief Canyon Ranch and Glen Eden can contact the Riverside County Department of Environmental Health for vector control: 951- 766-9454.

EVENTS

Temescal Valley is mourning the loss of CHP Sgt. Steve Licon, who was struck and killed by a suspected DUI driver on April 6 during a traffic stop on the I-15 south of Lake Street.

Sgt. Licon was a familiar face at Temescal Valley Municipal Advisory Council meetings, giving updates on CHP enforcement activities on community roadways.

Always the professional law enforcement officer, Sgt. Licon was outgoing, cordial, easily accessible and responsive to Temescal Valley traffic issues. He will be missed.

The California Highway Patrol Credit Union has established a memorial fund with 100 percent of the proceeds being given to Sgt. Licon's family.

$1,500 scholarships offered to 4 Temescal Valley high schoolers

Four lucky Temescal Valley students each will receive a $1,500 scholarship from the Waste Management El Sobrante 2019 Scholarship Program.

Eligibility requirements are easy – applicants must be graduating high school seniors and residents of Temescal Valley with a current grading period GPA of at least 2.5. Applicants also should be looking to pursue a major in environmental science, engineering, urban planning or biology, or be undecided in the course of studies they will pursue.

The scholarship application can be obtained by contacting Art Marquez, Waste Management community relations representative, at 951-277-5112 or Amarque6@wm.com.

But hurry. The deadline for applications due back to Art is Tuesday, April 30.

De Palma Road closed May 26-29

MOSQUITO BITE PREVENTION

Not all mosquitoes are the same. Different mosquitoes spread different viruses and bite at different times of the day. Our control and surveillance efforts focus on two main groups:

Culex species

- Responsible for the spread of West Nile Virus
- Commonly bite during the late evening and early morning

Aedes species

- Responsible for the spread of Dengue, Chikungunya, Zika viruses
- Commonly bite in the daytime

Protect yourself and your family from mosquito bites by avoiding exposure, using repellents, and making minor changes in and around your home:

USE INSECT REPELLENT

- Look for the following active ingredients:
  - DEET, picardin, IR3535, oil of lemon eucalyptus, para-methane-diol, 2-undecanone
- EPA.gov/insect-repellents for more details
- REAPPLY insect repellent as directed
- With sunscreen – apply sunscreen first

WEAR PROTECTIVE CLOTHES

- Wear long-sleeved shirts and long pants
- Cover cribs and strollers with netting
- For extra protection, treat clothing with permethrin
  - Follow product instructions closely
  - DO NOT use permethrin products directly on skin

MOSQUITO-PROOF YOUR HOME

- Use screens on windows and doors
- Use air conditioning when available
- ONCE A WEEK -
  - Empty and scrub, turn over, or throw out items that hold water
  - Place/fix screening over water drains or rain barrels to prevent mosquito access
  - Report standing water sources to local mosquito control districts

#rebootmy COMMUTE

We Are Listening

We know you are frustrated by traffic, late trains, potholed streets, and how long it takes for improvements to happen. We are frustrated too. The status quo must change. This is why today RCTC is announcing our new public outreach initiative #RebootMyCommute, an opportunity for you to say how and where to spend our limited transportation dollars to make the biggest impact in Riverside County.

Solving transportation challenges requires teamwork, and RCTC has made it easy for you to share your ideas. Visit rebootmycommute.org, send a text message, connect with us through social media, or call us – we want to hear your story. Post photos and videos and tell us your experiences – good and bad – on the road, bus, train, bike, or sidewalk. We want to know what transportation projects matter most to you. We also want to know the services that seniors, students, veterans, and people with disabilities need to live full and independent lives.

Chuck Washington, Chair
Riverside County Transportation Commission
